

Gianluca Degliesposti

WW Sales & Marketing Vice President Commercial End-User Business Development and Government, AMD

Gianluca Degliesposti is responsible for managing marketing and sales activities as well as strategic relationships with enterprise, governments and education accounts worldwide. In his position is also responsible, with a major focus on EMEA market, to lead the government IT procurement team.

Degliesposti joined AMD in 1996 as European Senior Application Engineer for the AMD Communication Division and 1999 he was promoted to Technical Evangelist. In mid 2000 he moved to the AMD Computing Division (CPG) where he was named Commercial Marketing Manager EMEA with the task to set up a European based team of people dedicated to commercial marketing. In 2003, Gianluca Degliesposti was promoted to Director Servers & Workstations Sales and Business Development EMEA.

Before joining AMD, Gianluca worked at Alcatel Italia as Project Hardware Design Manager supervising various projects in designing and engineering department. He holds a degree in Industrial Electronics Engineering.